Dear Friends,

Greetings and warm wishes to everybody at the Westchester Fairfield Hebrew Academy's (WFHA) 12th annual Erev Tov dinner dance. It is a delight to offer congratulations to this evening's honorees: Beth and Brad Boyer, Sari Dweck and Larry Ginsburg, and Rhonda Schaffer-Maroon and Jeff Maron.

Since its founding in 1997, the WFHA has sought to challenge and inspire its student body. For over a decade, the WFHA's innovative curriculum has promoted both educational and spiritual growth by offering courses that connect students to their Jewish heritage, such as Torat Chayim, Hebrew program and world Jewish history, in addition to general studies, such as math and science. In keeping with the philosophy of Klal Yisrael, the WFHA has shown its unwavering commitment to fostering a learning environment that stimulates Jewish consciousness and individuality, and in turn has enriched the lives of its over 200 students, their families and its staff.

I commend the WFHA for its exceptional approach to general and Judaic studies, and again, I congratulate tonight's awardees for their well deserved recognition.

Sincerely,
